YACKETY YACK

UNIVERSITY
CAROLINA

THEME EXPLANATION

Our art theme which depicts the life on the sea, and glorifies the youthful spirit of wanderlust and adventure so prevalent today, will, we hope, serve to brighten and decorate the story of our student life which must of necessity be presented in much the same manner from year to year.

We have been extremely careful to make a unified and coherent whole of the various illustrations and it has been our aim to make even the sub-division sketches apply to the sections they represent. Any analogies that could be made between the life on the sea and our life here at Chapel Hill we leave entirely to the reader's imagination, but to our minds the ships themselves furnish as refreshing and interesting a theme as we could have chosen.

If you catch a glimmer, however faint, of the mysterious spell of far ports and strange seas which is ours; we, in turn, will not fear the verdict which is yours.

J. CRAWFORD BIGGS

TO J. Crawford Biggs, '93, who, as a citizen of this campus was valedictorian and senior year president of his class; Editor-in-Chief of the annual; an editor of the first Tar Heel; Chief Marshal and winner of the Mangum Medal and the Greek Prize. Ability as a baseball player earned him the captaincy of the '92 team, and although the lightest man on the football team he was elected captain for '94, but declined the honor to pursue his law career.

He early entered public service as mayor and legislator, and at 34 was elected a Superior Court Judge and later served under Woodrow Wilson as special assistant to the Attorney General.

In the full tide of legal experience and civic responsibility Judge Biggs was called from a wide law practice in Raleigh to Washington by President Roosevelt to become Solicitor General of the United States.

As student, lawyer, public leader, citizen and constructive trustee and alumnus, he has conferred honor upon his Alma Mater, in recognition of which the Yackety-Yack does itself honor in dedicating this volume to him.

President

PRESIDENT GRAHAM'S MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF 1934

The graduation of the class of 1934 brings vividly to mind a quadrennium that has tested the depths and the heights of the human spirit in the affairs of the University and the world. What a panorama of local and distant lights and shadows passes in review with the procession of the class from the fall of 1930 to the summer of 1934.

Japan, Jehol, and Manchukuo; Stalin and the Five Year Plans in Russia; Mac-Donald and the National Government of Britain; Hitler, Nordicism, and the German totalitarian state; Mussolini and the corporate Kingdom of Italy; Roosevelt with the New Deal for American democracy; Mayne Albright, Haywood Weeks, Harper Barnes and student self-government at the University of North Carolina! Not to mention Gardner, live-at-home, and consolidation; and Ehringhaus, McLean and the eight months school; C.W.A. and intramural fields for all students, national tennis, South Atlantic baseball, Southern track, and state basketball championships! Or the Human Relations Institute, economic and social inquiries, and the Tatum petition against the freedom of the University! The meeting of the Association of American Universities in Chapel Hill recognized the graduate research and productive work of University scholars and teachers. Creative artistry in music and drama prepares the way for a three-fold school of fine arts.

The completion of the Student Union in 1931, the institution of the student audit in 1932-33, and the quiet resolve of some 200 students in their cleansing pledge of 1934 to report to the Student Council any case of cheating or other form of dishonor, are steps in the development of student freedom, campus government, and self-development in the University of North Carolina.

The while there came in quick succession the almost destructive 20 per cent cut of 1930-31, the additional 30 per cent cut of 1932, and the 54 per cent cut of 1933 under 1929! The loan fund of 1932 helped the class of 1934 and their college mates to absorb the heavier shocks to come. All the while the faculty met personal cuts with harder work, and world catastrophe with a greater faith. The class of 1934, as they take their places in the work of this plastic age, will help to restore the security and opportunities of the faculty, advance the University, and make the world a place in which men may work and hope for a better day.

The University bids you an affectionate farewell and will follow beside you upon all the ways of the world. When the way is dark and the road is rough alma mater will stand beside her sons and daughters of 1934. While you keep your feet on the clean earth in the valleys of your day's work she will look with you unto the high hills of your dreams.

SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS

AT the University of North Carolina the aim of the College of Arts is to introduce students to the main channel of intellectual affairs in the world. There is no use to blink the fact that great numbers of entering Freshmen have very intellectual interests and do not have a very clear idea of what it is all about. For this reason the work of the first two years is designed to raise the intellectual level and sharpen the wits of the students so that they can attack the more narrowly specialized work of the last two years, which the student must choose for himself. The chief subjects with which we are all concerned are language, science, history and philosophy, when not interpreted too narrowly. Therefore the College of Liberal Arts builds its curriculum around these subjects, at least for the first two years, with no claim to practicality, except in the wide sense that these are the things in which we live, move and have our being.

SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

The School of Commerce is the expression of the University's desire to serve the large percentage of young people who will go into some phase of business activity but who cannot spend more than four years in preparation for such a career. Recognizing the need of a general understanding of our complex modern civilization as a basis of a happy and effective life, the first two years of the course of study emphasize the broad cultural aspects of education. The last two years are devoted primarily to the development of an understanding of the principles and procedures of modern business. The teaching policy of the School assumes that training for business should consist not only of a knowledge of the organization and methods of typical business enterprises but in addition an understanding of the problems and larger relationships of the economic system as a whole. In the attempt to give the student a practical basis for his life, care is taken that he shall not lose sight of his social obligations or his cultural needs.

SCHOOL OF APPLIED SCIENCE

THE School of Applied Science was founded in order to give special training to those students of the Natural Sciences who propose to make some branch of Science their life's work. It was established in 1901 and first offered courses in Mining. In 1904 it was expanded to include special curricula for students in Chemistry, Electricity, Civil Engineering, Mining and Metallurgy. Later curricula were offered for students who proposed to enter Dentistry and Medicine. When the School of Engineering was established in 1922 the curricula in Electrical and Civil Engineering were transferred to the School of Engineering. At present, courses are offered for students proposing to follow the professions of Chemistry, Geology, Medicine, and Dentistry, with bachelor's degrees on the completion of four or five year curricula.

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

WHEN the University opened its doors in 1795 the first student to enter was Hinton James of Wilmington, who, after a brilliant career as a student, engaged in the practice of engineering. His breadth of interests here, ranging from astronomy to world commerce, was a fitting beginning for the broad cultural training which the institution has provided (since that time for leaders in the constructive development of the resources of the State and Nation). In 1852 the School for the Application of Science to the Arts was founded, which by 1857 registered 69 students. Then came Civil War and Reconstruction, but with the reopening of the University in 1875 a College of Engineering was established. In 1904 Engineering became a division of the new School of Applied Science, and in 1922 the present School of Engineering was organized. The School of Engineering offers standard four-year curricula leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Science in Chemical, Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering. The purpose of these curricula is to prepare the student to enter either the more technical phases of the engineering profession or the broader fields of the industrial world by giving him a thorough and cultural training in the fundamental principles of engineering.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

THE School of Education is one of the undergraduate divisions of the University whose primary purpose is the preparation of teachers. The program of studies for those preparing to teach is, therefore, administered by this school. The School was organized in 1913. It grew out of the department of Pedagogy, organized in 1895, which in turn grew out of the school or department of Normal Instruction which began in 1895. Through the Extension Division and the Summer School it conducts many courses for teachers in service. It operates a teacher's Placement Bureau, a Bureau of Educational Research, a Training School, and members of its staff edit The High School Journal, published by the University Press.

On the Graduate level Education is organized and administered as a department of the Graduate School. The program of studies for those preparing to become principals, superintendents, normal school and college teachers of Education is administered, therefore, by the graduate School through the Department of Education.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

INTEREST in research and advanced learning accompanied the origin and history of the University. General William R. Davie included graduate work in his project of the institution, and post-graduate work in course was undertaken before the Civil War, regulations governing it being incorporated in the catalogue of 1854. With the reopening of the University after the War, the plan for a graduate school, having sound standards and requirements, was formulated in 1876—at the very time of the foundation of Johns Hopkins. The School was given a Dean in 1904. Reorganized in 1919-1920 under the leadership of Dr. Greenlaw and a special committee, the School experienced an impressive development and won prompt recognition, as was indicated by the election of the University to membership in the Association of American Universities in 1922.

I take it that it is the desire of all of us to have here a great Graduate School—a school which stimulates, measures, and fulfills the intellectual aspirations of the faculties, which educates the student by showing him the way to scholarship through the mastery of a subject, its meaning, and the materials of knowledge; and which enriches the life and civilization of the Commonwealth by scholarship—free, fearless, and responsible—and by constructive investigations leading to the discovery of new truth.

LAW SCHOOL

THE Law School was established ninety years ago as a private enterprise by William H. Battle. In Judge Battle's absence on circuit, the classes were sometimes conducted in the little stone house on the corner of what is now Mrs. Klutz's yard, by Samuel Feild Phillips, afterwards Solicitor General of the United States. In the 80's the classes were taught by John Manning. Under James C. Macrae the school moved into the Old South Building (now the Administration Building). Under Lucius Polk McGehee it occupied the old library (now the Playmakers Theatre) until it was permanently housed in Manning Hall ten years ago.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

THE beginning of medical instruction at the University of North Carolina dates back to 1879, when Dr. Thomas W. Harris conducted here a medical class under the preceptorial method of instruction with the assistance of certain University departments. This school was discontinued in 1886. In 1890 the present School of Medicine was founded under the direction of Dr. Richard H. Whitehead, and in 1900 became incorporated into the University as a fully organized two-year medical school.

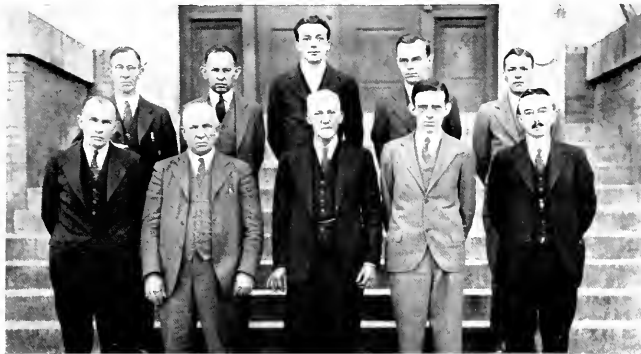

Since that date the School has had an uninterrupted record of service to the state, has continued to grow in influence throughout the state and nation, and has won for itself a recognition among medical educators for the excellence and thoroughness of its work.

In 1898 it was admitted to membership into the Association of American Medical Colleges, and is ranked in the Class A group of American Medical Schools. Over 600 of the 2,300 practicing physicians in North Carolina today are alumni of this Institution, and they include and have included many of the most prominent and influential physicians in North Carolina.

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

COURSES in Pharmacy have been given in the University since 1880. Not until 1897, however, was a school permanently established. In these earlier years prospective pharmacists studied under a perceptorial system since there was no actual need for organized schools. Gradually, however, Pharmacy became an exact and developing science and the need for systematic pharmaceutical instruction became imperative. As this science continued to develop the School increased the length of its curriculum from two to three and finally to four years.

The present curriculum is so arranged that elective specialization begins in the junior year to allow graduates to enter any one of three different types of pharmaceutical service. In addition, graduate instruction is offered.

PLAYMAKERS' THEATRE

THE division of Drama is designed to give a good background in the literature of the drama and the theatre, and training in the theatre arts and playwriting.

Playwriting may be taken throughout the year or for a single quarter. Experimental and public productions of plays written in these courses give the student an opportunity to see his best work produced on the stage. Emphasis is placed on the native scene and the life of the region with which the writer is most familiar.

The work in the theatre arts includes courses in acting, rehearsal and performance, play direction, scenery construction and painting, stage lighting and stage design. All the scenery used in the productions of the Carolina Playmakers is designed and constructed by the students.

The aim of the Division of Drama is to give the student an active part in all phases of the drama and the theatre from the writing of the play to the finished production.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

DR. T. SMITH McCORKLE
Department Head

THE Department of Music at the University has a three-fold aim in offering its program to the students here. For those who wish to major in music the A.B. degree is offered. For those who play some instrument or sing, but who wish their music for a vocational advantage only, various student organizations welcome their participation, such as Glee Clubs, Symphony Orchestras and Bands. Finally, there is that group of students who are not within themselves musicians, but who appreciate the value of a knowledge of musical literature. To this group the music department offers two courses of study, one in the History of Music and one in Music Appreciation. The Chief aim of the Department of Music is, therefore, to aid the students in this kind of musical education.

STUDENT COUNCIL

NORTH Carolina, the oldest of state universities, was one of the first institutions at which student government was established. A survey made a few years ago by the General Education Board gave credit to the University of North Carolina for having a system which approached absolute student self-government more nearly than any other college in the nation. Students here have the priceless privilege of being able to live and develop their own lives during their college days in the knowledge that they are regarded as gentlemen and men of honor, and that they themselves have the privilege and the duty to deal with those of their number who fail to adhere to the standards of a Carolina man.

One distinctive feature of student government here is the fact that it is operated under no written constitution, no fixed rules or limits to bind it in its scope and jurisdiction. Each successive Student Council governs upon a basis of what it feels is right, and every case which comes before it is decided upon its individual merits.

PUBLICATIONS UNION BOARD

THE Publications Union Board attempts to consolidate the business policies of all the publications of the University. At the same time it makes every effort to see that the Daily Tar Heel, Carolina Buccaneer, Carolina Magazine, and the Yackety Yack are efficiently managed.

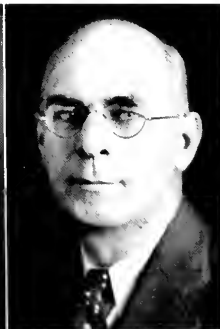

The P. U. Board is a student controlled organization representing the Publications Union of which every student in the University is a member. The board sets the fees which each member of the union pays for publications. Representation on the board consists of one representative from the senior class, one from the junior, and one member at large, all elected by a vote of the entire student body. There are two faculty members appointed by the president of the University. The student members serve for a term of one year, beginning their services at the first of the school year. The faculty members serve in rotation for terms of two years and begin their services at the first of the calendar year.

DANCE COMMITTEE

THE University Dance Committee was formed two years ago to take over the old German Club Executive Committee's duty of regulating dances. This body is in charge of all University dances. It is composed of eleven members: one member from each of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, the German Club officers, the President of the Interfraternity Council, two members of the Grail, a member from the Graduate

Club, and each year one member of the old committee is elected as a carry-over member.

The committee has been quite successful in its work this year, and it is my sincere wish that the future student bodies will cooperate with this group in an effort to give the University a well organized and a more central control of all dances.

DEBATE COUNCIL

THE Debate Council is an outgrowth of the intersociety debating of the Phi and Di organizations, and was founded in 1897. Its purpose is to supervise and direct the policy of the University Debate Squad. Four student members and three faculty advisers compose the council. Two of the student members are elected by the Student Body, and the Di Senate and the Phi Assembly each appoints a student representative. The three faculty members are appointed by the President of the University.

JOHN LEAKE

Sigma Nu smoothie of the old school—none of the law school. Frightened a pathetic spectacle that made strong men weep when he had to sit, morosely nurs-

KENNETH WHARTON YOUNG
Durham, N. C.

PETE IVEY—Forsook boxing for Buccaneer work and astonished us by becoming editor in his junior year, has succeeded in publishing a god rag and at the same time increasing his wide circle of friends.

PAT GASKINS—Has divided his time between labs in Venable hall, the Buccaneer office, and the Tar Heel office, where he busied himself pilfering the dictionary. Big things are expected from him as editor of next year's Buc.

NORM QUARLES—Idol of the freshman class; despite his turning semi-professional will be remembered as one of the really great Carolina leather-pushers; not to be forgotten as a wooer, either.

AGNEW BAHNSON—Inherited the University Club from Benny Carr and by his tireless efforts has led it to a position of respect and importance; one of the really dependable leaders in '35.

ED MARTIN—Steele's Playboy has done a good all-around job so far, serving on the Student Council, plunging football lines and making good grades. Being from Tarboro, he has quite naturally been one of the more sociable socialites.

JACK POOL—A really constructive force in the Y. M. C. A. Able guardian of the funds of the Junior class. Noted as one of Dean Bradshaw's most ardent ethics students and as one of the best political organizers on the campus.

UNIVERSITY CLUB

J. D. WINSLOW—Important voice in the councils of the Phi Assembly; after two years' work on Tar Heel concentrated on Y. M. C. A. of which he ought to make an energetic president for the coming year; distinctive as Number Three President of the class last year.

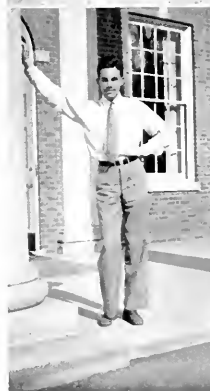

SIMMONS PATTERSON—Very possibly the best-liked man in the class; a diligent student who has also identified himself with varied activities; should make an excellent chairman of next year's Human Relations Institute.

BOB DRANE—Editor Andrews' right hand man who will assume control next year. Shows marked ability to mix Zeta Psi social life with hum-drum publication work at Graham Memorial.

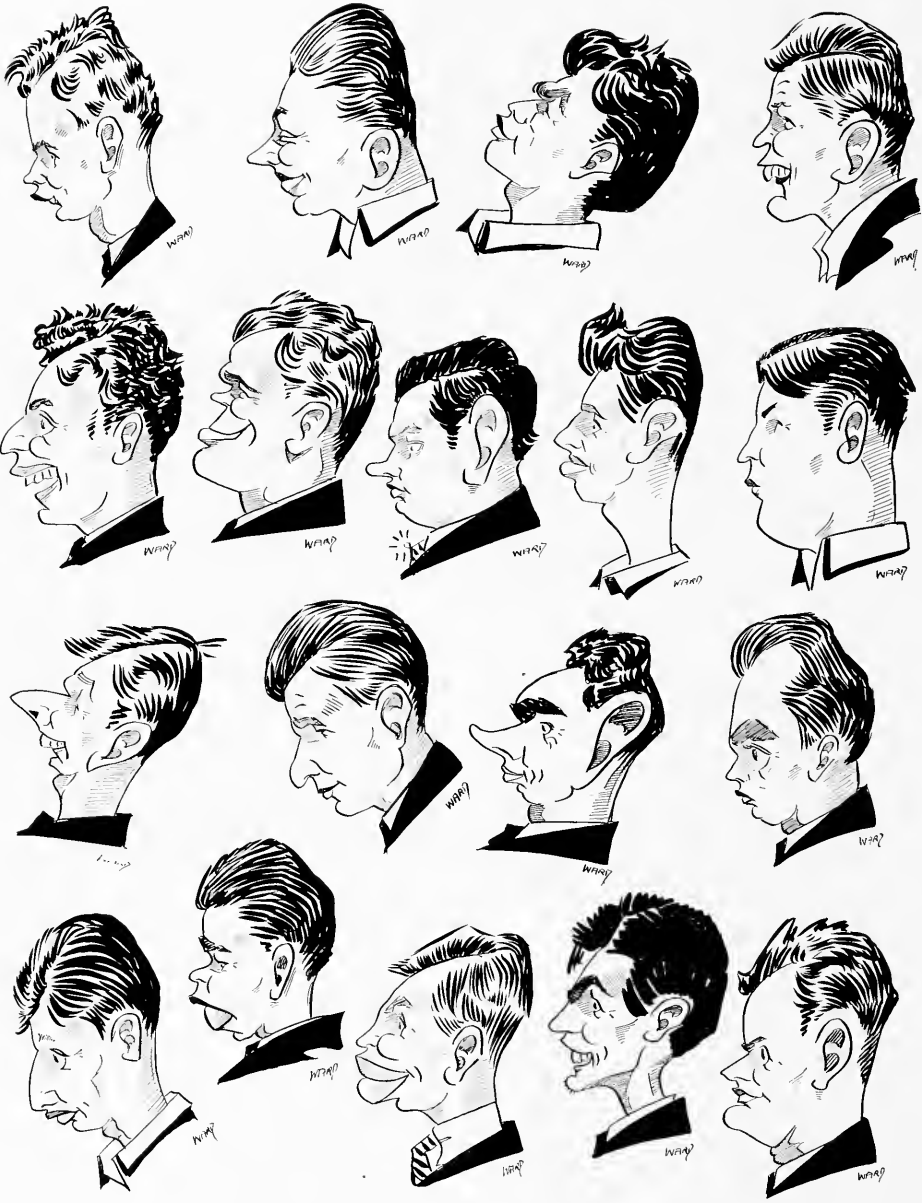

JOE SUGARMAN—Has held down three big jobs on three publications and at the same time made all A's but one; weekly threatened suit by Time Magazine for plagiarizing for benefit of his "Non Campus Mentis".

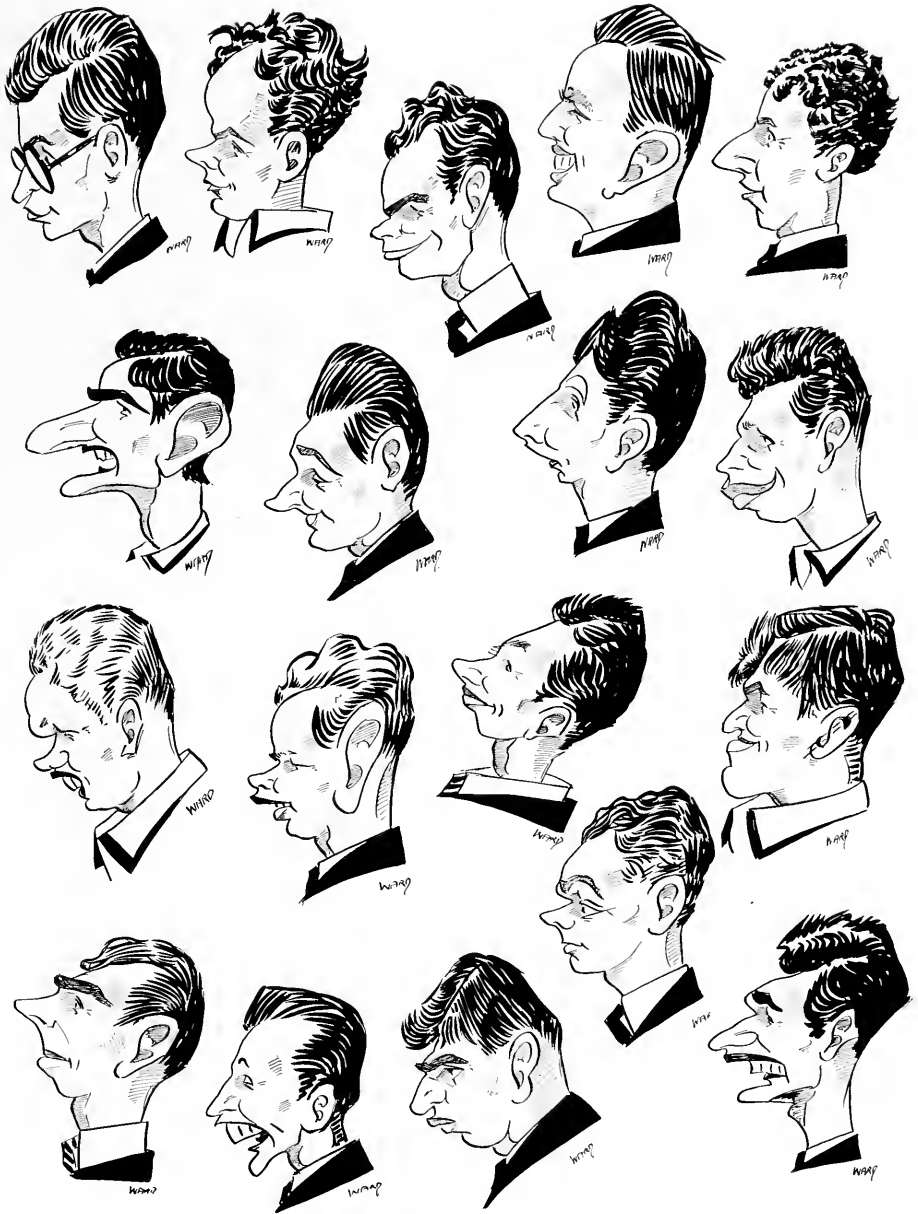

CARL THOMPSON—Has mixed pipe smoking with journalism and playmaking and managed to achieve an aromatic blend; edited a most creditable Freshman Handbook and the North Carolina Student Federation Journal.

LONNIE DILL—That rare bird, a thoughtful journalist with individual standards and ideas; another man who has made but one B and has been able to be an influence for good in campus affairs.

YACKETY YACK

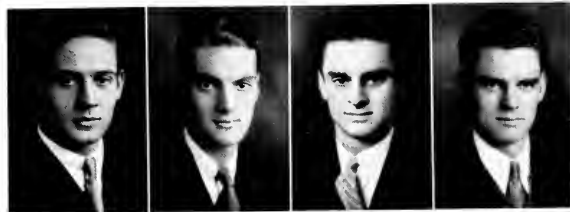

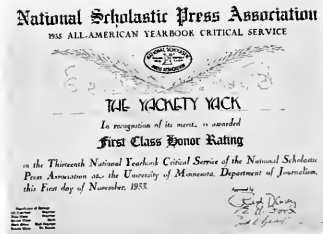

THOSE of you who understand even partially the chaos out of which a college annual is born are the only competent judges of such a book. You alone realize clearly that the final and unchangeable edition is filled with compromises between the idealized original version and the inferior necessities of the moment. Many features which do not measure up to what was expected of them cause us far more intense pangs of regret than any student with a misspelled name could ever know.

This year we are using the large size book without reducing the number of pages. Our carefully planned art theme is one of many departures from former "Yackety Yacks" and should be regarded merely as a device for decorating and unifying the book. The more literal minded and unimaginative student may prefer the typical snap shots of our campus, which are, we hope, sufficiently numerous and informal to represent practically every phase of the University and to enhance the interest of the book in later years.

The unfailing interest and hard work on the part of Mr. Kenneth Whitsett, now head of the Pictorial Engraving Co., who carried out the art theme, Mr. Everett Bierman of the Charlotte Engraving Co. and Mr. Frank Fleming and Mr. Drexel Fesperman of the Queen City Printing Co. helped a great deal in planning and publishing this volume. The staff of Wooten Moulton was more than obliging in handling the photography, and a competent and unheralded staff of freshmen and sophomores behind the scenes worked hard to give you this book. We hope you like it.

STEPPING forward with a definite aim toward interesting the student body first in the publication and then in itself, the Daily Tar Heel has finished a very successful year. The staff sought to present daily the latest and most pertinent accounts of events involving the interest of the student body as a whole.

The editorial policy of the paper has sought continually to exert a constructive influence on the University as well as the student administration.

Through the conscientious desire of every member of the staff to obtain the latest news, and of the paper to exert a constructive influence, closer co-operation and a clearer understanding between the University administration and the students have been procured.

THE CAROLINA BUCCANEER

MARCH 10 the Buccaneer was ten years old, and a Tenth Anniversary number was issued typifying the purpose, or lack of purpose, of the publication. Jokes, cartoons, goofy poetry, and attempts at humorous articles concerning the Buccaneer and blood-thirsty pirates marred, I mean marked, the tenth birthday of the magazine.

At the first of the year it was our purpose to print clean humor in the Buccaneer, but the students began to demand dirt so vociferously, we thought it best to do what we could in the interest of obscenity. We take no pride in saying that some of the dirtiest Buccaneers ever printed appeared on the campus this year. We attempted to shock the students into learning that a magazine of filth should not be printed at the University of North Carolina.

In three months the pendulum swung the other way, and the students demanded a clean and humorous Buccaneer. Then we turned to the kind of humor we had had in mind all along. The moral to this story is: You can please some of the people some of the time, and a few of the people all of the time; but if you try to kill all the birds with one stone, you'll end up in the bushes.

IT is the two-fold purpose of the Carolina Magazine to act both as a campus literary "guinea pig" and a publication of such construction that it will command the attention of the student body through an anthology of material calculated to titilate the tastes of each undergraduate. Feeling that the Magazine has too long submerged-itself in a sea of indifference to campus interest, camouflaged as a "writing laboratory", it has been the object of the 1934 editorial board to present what has been termed a "balanced meal" in the literary line for each of its two monthly issues. Poems, both serious and frivolous, essays of both a profound and humorous nature, and a wide range of fiction from the impressionistic to the fantastic, have been garbled in such a manner as to provide what we hope has been attractive in some detail to every reader.

Forty-five students have contributed almost constantly to the Magazine columns during the year, many of them in a number of different fields. With what limited funds we are able to muster we have exploited the wood and linoleum cut field, as well as changing the format from three columns to four. With the co-operation of more or less faithful staff members we have endeavored to meet every dead line on time, which, we believe, is more or less of an innovation. And with the assistance of the Publications Union and the University English Department the Magazine has inaugurated its first short story contest among the high schools of North Carolina.

The retiring board can offer few suggestions to the new incumbents. However, it is hoped that the present format of the Magazine may be so changed that it can exist independent of The Daily Tar Heel, appearing in the form of a regular monthly magazine with regulation cover. It is also possible that more funds may be appropriated for art work and a few changes in typography.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

THE local chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers is the oldest engineering society on the campus, having been founded in 1902. Although membership to the Chapel Hill division is included in registering for engineering, members of the branch group have the option of joining the national organization. Among the more interesting programs arranged throughout the year was an illustrated lecture on television delivered by Dr. J. O. Perrine of the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

FOUNDED in 1920, the William Cain chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers has been a significant factor in keeping students in contact with important developments in their sphere of interest. By means of lectures, papers, and inspec-

ALL mechanical engineers are eligible for membership to this society. The purpose of the organization is to bring to the attention of its members pertinent discoveries and experiments and to permit students an opportunity to present papers

FORENSICS

THE DIALECTIC SENATE

FOUNDED June 3, 1795, the Di is the older of the two literary societies on the campus. For many years it enjoyed along with the Phi a position of considerable power and authority by virtue of the fact that all students were required to join one or the other of the organizations. It became customary for students from the western part of the state to enroll as members of the Di. After 1889, due to the increased size of the University, compulsory membership was abolished, and the influence of the society as a regulatory body speedily diminished. As it exists today the Di is chiefly a debating group which formally discusses topics of campus, state, and national interest. With the Phi it provides an opportunity for students to become accustomed to thinking on their feet, and serves to develop material for the debating team.

THE PHILANTHROPIC ASSEMBLY

A DEVELOPMENT from the Dialectic Senate, the Philanthropic Assembly was organized less than a month after its parent society. Students from the eastern part of the state generally joined the Phi, and until 1889 it served with the Di as the most important expression of student opinion and authority. When compulsory membership was abolished, the Phi experienced a decline in power similar to that of the Di. Slightly larger than the other literary society, it concerns itself with much the same material for debate and is also a highly organized body. One of the forensic features of the year is the Mary D. Wright debate held in Gerard hall between representatives of the two societies. With the Di the Phi is the chief source of material for the debating team.

DEBATING PURPOSE

THE purpose of debating at the University is to give students training in public speaking with a view to their participation in public affairs, to help them to a better understanding of important and persistent problems, and to offer the public an opportunity of hearing such problems discussed. Courtesy and good manners are stressed; a violation is almost unforgivable. No ungenerous epithets, no mocking of the opponents' mannerisms, no unfriendly sarcasm is tolerated. The men must be severe on weak arguments, but polite to the man who uses them.

DEBATING ACTIVITIES

THE debate group or squad, composed of any students who are interested, meets once a week to analyze and discuss questions. Those who are most competent and have contributed most to the success of debating for the year are chosen for one of the two long trips in the spring. Occasional short trips are scheduled, and a few of the debates are broadcast over the radio. One of the fruitful and pleasant features of the activity is the receiving and entertaining of visiting teams. The highlight of the year is the annual international debate.

THE UNIVERSITY CLUB

THE University Club was founded last May for the purpose of entertaining members of athletic teams which visit the University. Its members are juniors from each of the campus fraternities and representative non-fraternity men.

During the fall quarter the organization devoted its efforts to revitalizing active support of the football team and was instrumental in introducing the two new Carolina songs written by Kay Kyser.

The club took advantage of the spring holidays to hold informal meetings in many North Carolina cities in co-operation with University alumni groups, at which high school seniors were guests.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

THE Woman's Association at the University was organized in 1917 as a club for women students. The association aims to create a sense of unity and fellowship among its members; to promote and maintain high standards of University life; to encourage in the leisure hours of its members those activities which add zest to college life. It is eager to bring about closer relations between students and the alumnae. All women students at the University automatically become members of the association.

"Bo" SHEPARD

Successful, popular and respected coach of fighting Tar Heel basketball teams whose new position as Assistant Director of Carolina Athletics has not prevented him from producing a state championship quint which twice defeated Duke.

MONOGRAM CLUB

THIS organization, through the untiring efforts of Coach Dale Ranson, has gone through a recent and arduous renovation. The goal set for the group is better spirit in athletic participation on Tar Heel teams and more strict adherence to training regulations. During the second year of this reorganization movement, the University student body, as a whole, has given the Monogram Club its hearty support.

George Brandt, one of Carolina's two athletes to win letters in three major sports and Captain of 1934 baseball, in the capacity of President, has been in no small way responsible for the Club's success. Frank Abernethy, star track man and one of the Southern Conference's finest hurdlers, has added further strength to the venture as a capable Secretary.

CAPTAIN BILL CROOM

When the smoke cleared away from the 1933 football battle-front at the University of North Carolina, the results showed that the team had won four and lost five games during a season which could at best be termed mediocre.

The 1933 season marked the end of Coach C. C. Collins' eight-year reign over the football destinies of the University. At the end of the season, the Athletic Council voted not to renew the contracts of Collins and his assistants, Odell Sapp and Allan Howard.

Late in January, the Athletic Council announced that Carl G. Snively, formerly of Bucknell University, would coach Carolina teams for the next three years. Snively brought with him Maxwell Reid, former Bucknell and professional star, as assistant and line coach. Snively decided to begin Winter practice immediately, and on January 29, the first practice under the new coach was called.

CAROLINA 6, DAVIDSON 0

The Tar Heels started the 1933 season inauspiciously by eking out a one-touchdown victory over a scrapping Davidson team.

In the last quarter, George Moore, reserve back, went through the line for Carolina's only touchdown. Carolina drove deep into Davidson territory several times during the game, but lacked scoring drive.

Captain Bill Croom featured Carolina's hard-drives off tackle, counting 4 of the Tar Heels' 13 first downs. The Wildcats scored only 3.

CAROLINA 13, VANDERBILT 20

In their second game of the season, the North Carolina team spotted Vanderbilt 14 points in the first few minutes of play, and then came back to score 13 points. In the fourth quarter, Vanderbilt scored the decisive touchdown on a pass from Long to Dixon. Carolina's touchdowns were scored by Mac Bell on a short pass from Acee McDonald, and by McDonald on a 20-yard run through the whole Vandy line. In this game, Julian Frankel, star Tar Heel left end, broke a blood vessel in his hand which kept him out of action for three weeks.

CAROLINA 0, GEORGIA 30

Carolina met the strong Georgia team when the Crackers were at the height of their season's strength. Led by a galaxy of star backs, Chapman, Key, Brown, and Gaston, the invaders ran roughshod over the Tar Heels. The bright spot in this game was the spectacular defensive work of George Barclay, our stellar guard, who received a post on the week's All-American team for his work in this game.

CAROLINA 0, FLORIDA 9

Playing a brilliant kicking game, and continually holding the Florida 'Gators beat the Carolina team in a slow and listless game. George Barclay again was the best man on the field. At the end of the game, the Florida players gave Barclay the ball used in the game, insisting that he had earned it by his superb play.

CAROLINA 6, GEORGIA TECH 10

Holding Georgia Tech scoreless for three quarters, the Tar Heels came back to life with a brilliant exhibition of football prowess. For the first time in the season, the team showed real strength. The kicking of Woollen and Martin kept the Golden Tornado away from the Carolina goal for four quarters. But mid-way in the final period, Dave Wilcox kicked a field goal from placement from the 18-yard stripe, and the Yellow Jackets took on new life, breaking loose for several long and meandering runs which brought the ball to Carolina's one yard stripe. After three tries at the line Jack Phillips carried the ball over. Wilcox converted the extra point. But undaunted with Tech's 10-point advantage, Coach Collins' fighting Tar Heels put on a truly great exhibition of spirited football, culminating in a march down the field to score with Mac Bell jolting the line for the tally.

The try for extra point failed when Tatum's kick went under the bars. With only three minutes left to play, the Tar Heels almost turned the game into an Horatio Algier finish. Don Jackson passed to Henry Burnett who ran 17 yards before he was brought down on the Yellow Jacket 26. Still another pass netted a first down. With half a minute to go Jackson tossed a pass to Brandt, but the heave was smothered by a legion of Georgia Tech players. Barclay starred again for Carolina, and after the contest, Coach Bill Alexander, Tech, stated, "As far as I am concerned, Barclay is All-Southern, All-American, All-Anything."

CAROLINA 6, N. C. STATE 0

Continuing the fine brand of ball displayed against Georgia Tech, the Tar Heels won their second game of the season taking N. C. State into camp. George Moore plunged over the State line for the lone touchdown in the second period. The game was played on a soggy field, which greatly hampered the vaunted Carolina passing attack. Don Jackson broke away for a 60-yard jaunt to the 'Pack's goal in the fourth period, but was called back because a teammate was penalized for holding. Julian Frankel returned to the Tar Heel line-up in this game and was a material factor in the Carolina triumph, blocking a kick which put the Collinsmen in position to score. The Techs failed to make a single first down during the second half, while counting only three during the first two periods. Carolina scored 13. The Wolves found their own passing game far off color, and failed to complete a single pass during the entire contest.

added scoring to his repertoire of football accomplishments after Tatum partially blocked Pat Swan's punt. Barclay scooped up the ball and ran 10 yards for the tally. Ed Martin, returning Swan's punt, ran 40 yards through the entire Baptist outfit for a touchdown and one of the prettiest runs of the afternoon. Barclay added to his already great name by turning in another spectacular afternoon's work. Tatum and Daniel were other stars in the line which functioned as a unit with the backs.

CAROLINA 0, DUKE 21

Before a crowd of 32,000 spectators, the largest crowd to witness a football game in Dixie during the season of 1933, Duke's strong Blue Devils, showing a snappy brand of ball, completely outclassed the Tar Heels. In his last chance against Duke, Bill Croom, Carolina captain and halfback, was the outstanding star. Carolina's backs failed to gain consistently through the line and their highly-touted passing attack was broken up time after time by the Duke secondary. Completely overshadowing Duke's Crawford, George Barclay again proved to be the best man on the field. Horace Hendrikson counted the first touchdown in the opening canto on an end run. He scored again shortly after on a pass from Rossiter. Near the end of the final quarter, Bob Cox intercepted McDonald's pass and ran 30 yards for the last tally. Cornelius place-kicked both points.

CAROLINA 14, VIRGINIA 0

In Coach Collins' swan song as a Tar Heel mentor, the Carolina team outplayed Virginia in every department of the game to score a clean-cut win. George Barclay scored the first Carolina touchdown on an intercepted pass, and George Moore went through the middle of the line for the second marker. Daniel and Brandt, both star linemen, kicked the extra points.

The Virginia game marked the last appearance of Captain Bill Croom, Kay Thompson, Julian Frankel, George Brandt, and Bill Collins in a Tar Heel uniform.

BASKETBALL

COACH "Bo" Shepard's basketball proteges won 17 out of 20 games during their regular schedule, taking top honors for the state in the Big Five and ending as semi-finalists in the annual Southern Conference basketball tournament. The White Phantoms were eliminated in the tourney by Duke, 21-18, in a disappointing but exciting battle; Carolina had previously beaten the Blue Devils twice during the season.

In the season's opener, the Tar Heel fans were given a real treat when they saw Carolina lick Clemson's strong Tiger five 38-26. Going on the road immediately, the White Phantoms swept aside all opposition: Davidson bowed to the Tar Heels at Charlotte, 38-23; Vicose Athletic Club, at Roanoke, 26-25; V. P. I., at Blacksburg, 31-14; V.M.I. 38-18 and Washington and Lee 34-24, both at Lexington, Va.

Once more on their home court, the Tar Heel five displayed great power in taking Wake Forest 41-21 and V.M.I. 37-11. Virginia brought down a fast and hard-fighting aggregation which put on a great last half rally, falling short, 44-35. Against N. C. State the White Phantoms were devoid of their former speed and power and were handed one of the greatest upsets of Southern basketball for the 1934 season, losing 34-30. However, in the last game before going north again, Carolina knocked off V.P.I. 41-21.

Carolina ran into considerable difficulty in taking Virginia, at Charlottesville. During the waning moments of play, "Snooks" Aitken intercepted a Virginia pass and dribbled the length of the court to shoot the winning goal; final score: U. N. C. 24, U. Va. 23.

Glance returned to the Tar Heel lineup against Maryland, joining his teammates in Washington. During the last five minutes of the contest, the Carolina five completely outshadowed the tall Terrapin quintet, counting five straight baskets, three of which were made by Glance in a mad scoring orgy which brought the White Phantoms finally into the fore, 28-24.

Navy found a sluggish Tar Heel opponent. At half time the Middies led 18-8, and with less than four minutes to go the score stood 26-15 for the Sailors. Carolina put on the pressure and all but sank the Navy quintet, counting nine points in a belated rally which was terminated by the timer's gun; final score: Navy 26, Carolina 24.

The White Phantoms returned to the local court to take a great 25-21 victory over Duke. This was the first triumph over the Blue Devils in two years. A capacity crowd turned out for the contest which was played in the Tin Can.

Carolina took the Wake Forest five into camp at Raleigh before a small crowd of fans in the Memorial Auditorium, 41-24. The Tar Heels meted out sweet revenge over the N. C. State quint in the Tin Can, snowing under the Techs 45-24. Despite an early 8-0 lead held by the Wolfpack, Carolina was in the fore 26-16 at intermission. Davidson brought a fighting contingent to the Tin Can, but lost 39-25.

The White Phantoms took Duke before a capacity crowd which jammed the Duke University Gymnasium. Some 5,000 fans, including His Excellency, Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, saw the contest. The lead changed hands several times, and with six minutes to go Duke led 20-17. However, Carolina put on one of its characteristic rallies, counting 13 points on a stretch, and won 30-25. This was the first time that Carolina had made a clean sweep of the Duke series since 1928, and this contest clinched the Big Five title.

South Carolina's highly-touted Gamecocks took the Tar Heels in tow in the Tin Can 45-30. The Palmetto State quint played with reckless abandon, scoring from all over the court with uncanny accuracy.

In the Southern Conference tournament, Carolina found little difficulty in taking Virginia to town 27-18 in the first round. "Snooks" Aitken topped the scoring with 17 markers. But in the semi-finals a great Duke team took the lead from Carolina during the last two minutes of play to win 21-18. The Blue Devils lost to W. & L. in the final contest 29-28.

CAROLINA'S 1933 track team ranked as one of the best in Dixie, capturing both Southern Conference and state championships. The Flying Tar Heels continued their 12 year dual meet record. During this interim they have suffered defeat only twice, once to Navy and once to Penn State.

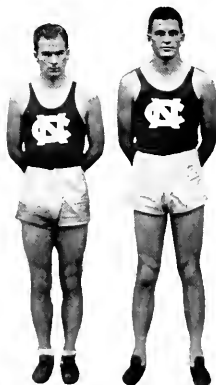

Coach Bob Fetzer's boys inaugurated their season with an overwhelming victory over Georgetown University in a practice meet for the Washingtonians. Carolina copped all but one of the 15 firsts. No official score was kept.

During the Spring Recess, the Tar Heels went north to Annapolis, Md., where they met and conquered the Naval Academy contingent 77-49, upsetting all previous dope, but sounding a strong warning to future opponents concerning the Carolina team's potentialities.

Bob Hubbard and Louis Sullivan tied for first place in a great two-mile run, clocked on a soggy track at 9:47.1 minutes. In the hundred and in the furlong, Odell Childers, Carolina's "Galloping Ghost", raced ahead to break the tape. In the century, Charlie Hubbard took second, while in the 220 straight-away, Johnny Gunter placed second.

In the hurdles Abernethy and Hawthorne finished in one-two order in both the high and low timber events. Oscar Mullis set a new school record for the Middies, tossing the discus almost into Chesapeake Bay, 140 feet 9½ inches.

Virginia's highly-publicized Cavaliers invaded Chapel Hill for the next meet, and were repulsed 76⅓-49⅓. Two Southern Conference records were bettered and two University marks were set.

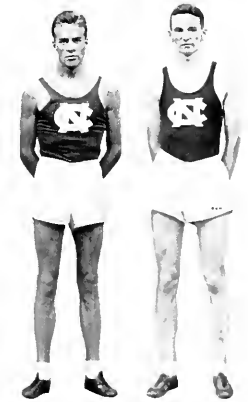

In one of the most thrilling dual meets in the history of Dixie track, Carolina turned back Duke University on Emerson Field 66-60. The meet hung fire until the final event, the 880-yard run. Carolina lacked one point to clinch victory, and Harry Williamson, sophomore speedster, flashed home second to give the Flying Tar Heels much-needed points and the meet. Duke has yet to win a dual meet from the University in track and field sports.

One of the featured attractions of the meet was the great hurdles event in which Frank Abernethy flashed first to the line in the 120 highs, besting Johnny Brownlee, great Duke hurdles ace.

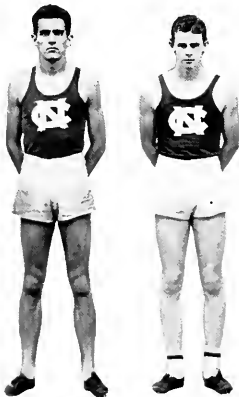

The following week-end, Carolina downed the Penn State Nittany Lions, 66½-61½ at College Station, Pa. The meet was run off before a crowd of 2,000 fans on a rain-soaked track and field. But the weather did not deter the Flying Tar Heels. In the final events of this meet, Odel Childers beat Penn State's star sprinter, Dale, in both the 100 and 220-yard runs. Oscar Mullis featured the field events by taking off a pair of firsts in the discus and shot put.

U. N. C. won its 12th consecutive state title in the North Carolina State Intercollegiate Track and Field Carnival which was held at Durham the following week, leading Duke 82½-64. Davidson took third honors with 12 points and N. C. State brought up the rear-guard with a half-dozen markers.

Carolina beat Duke for the third time last spring, proving conclusively that Coach Bob's forty Jackasses were more than a match for Duke's highly-touted "Four Horsemen." The Tar Heels won the 11th Southern Conference Track and Field Games and the conference title. Some 4,000 fans filtered through the confines of the gigantic Duke Stadium to watch the meet.

Five new Dixie track and field records were hung up. Bob Hubbard ran a great two-mile race, beating Dunaj, W. & L. for top honors, and Hubbard set a new record with the time of 9:46.4 minutes.

NORTH CAROLINA'S 1934 ring edition finished a fair season with three victories, two losses, and a tie marked against its slate. Duke, V. P. I., and V. M. I. fell victims to the Tar Heel ringmen while Carolina bowed to Navy and Virginia. N. C. State tied Carolina 4-4.

From the start of the season, the Carolina boxers were handicapped with the loss of two veteran performers, Captain Platt Landis, Southern Conference heavyweight titlist of 1933, and Cliff Glover, clever 118-pound battler. Landis failed to return to school while Glover had to drop from the team because of heavy lab work.

The University fighters opened the season with a great $5\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$ win over Virginia Poly. Norment Quarles thrilled the audience when he knocked out Fred Hall, highly-touted Gobbler ringster, in the opening round. Marvin Ray, lighthheavy, scored another Carolina K. O. when he laid Dillon, V. P. I., among the daisies.

Carolina's ring hopes ran aground when they met N. C. State in Raleigh. The Techs proved to be stronger than anticipated and all but handed the Tar Heels a defeat. Quarles' smooth fighting again headlined the matches. Norm counted a technical knockout over Leonard Peacock in the first of the second verse. Ray scored his second straight K. O. when he knocked out "Red" Stephens, giant grid star, in the second session. Vieing for the spotlight which was given to the Quarles-Peacock go, was the thrilling and close match fought by Sam Giddens, Carolina, and Jack Fabri, State. Fabri eked out a decision over Giddens; it was the second thrilling match that these two boys had met in; in the first fight, Fabri won another close decision.

Carolina took a 6-2 lacing at the hands of Virginia's strong Southern Conference champs. Although all the bouts were close, the Cavaliers held the upper hand. Giddens carved out a decision over Lucas, and Quarles won on a forfeit when Coach LaRowe, Virginia, failed to provide the Tar Heel with any kind of opposition.

The next week-end, Navy sank the Tar Heels 6-2. Williams, diminutive 125-pound scrapper, defeated Mulquin by the decision route while Quarles K. O.'d Blitch in the opening round to take the only North Carolina points. But Carolina broke back into the win column with a close 4½-3½ triumph over the V. M. I. kaydets. Williams and Ray counted knockouts; Ellisberg won a decision and Quarles gained another forfeit. Nat Lumpkin fought to a draw with Burton to round out the Tar Heels' scoring.

University's ringmen took Duke handily into camp, 5-3. Featuring the fights of the evening was the Williams-Scelza tiff. Carolina's Williams took a close referee's decision in a fight fraught with much slugging. Quarles knocked out Scott in the second canto to keep his record of not having to go into the third round but once during the season. In the unlimited, Jim Carruth pounded out a decision over Lewis, and clinched the meet for the Tar Heels. Ray and Giddens won on forfeits.

Carolina had one representative to weather the storm of the Southern Conference ring tourney in Norment Quarles, whose title gave the Tar Heels fourth place in the tournament. Immediately following the S. I. C. tourney, Quarles joined the A. A. U. ranks and fought his second fight with Bobby Goldstein, former national collegiate champ, pounding out another great decision.

CAROLINA'S baseball representatives of 1933 swept through all opposition to a Southern Conference and a tie for state title.

For the first time since 1927 Duke was beaten twice on the diamond. Joe Griffith, now with the Cleveland Indians, outpitched Bobby Coombs, to win both games and the series by the same score, 2-1. In the second game which was also to decide the Southern Conference championship, Griffith let the Blue Devils down with two hits, both coming after the eighth inning.

President Frank Graham, a former Tar Heel baseball star, opened the season by pitching the first ball against Washington and Lee from the mound. It was called strike.

Davidson won both games of the annual Easter week-end series due to loose fielding on the part of the Tar Heels. By virtue of these victories and another later in the season, the Wildcats managed to tie with Carolina for the state title.

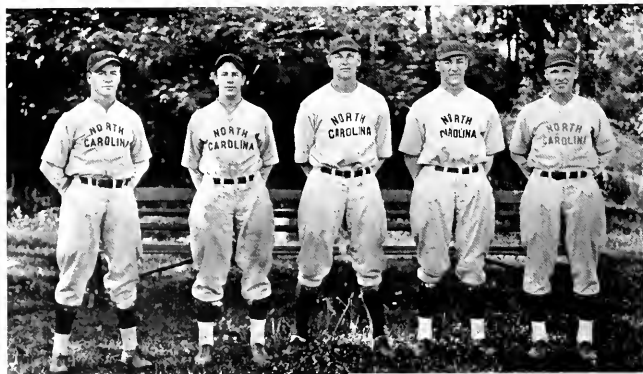

The team made two trips through Virginia and Maryland and returned with victories in every game. On the northern tour such strong teams as Virginia, Virginia Poly, Virginia Military Institute, Georgetown, Maryland, and Navy were turned back.

Johnny Peacock led the long-distance clubbers with four home runs, four triples, and three doubles. McCaskill had three homers, two triples, and three doubles. George Brandt, captain-elect, smacked out six triples.

At the end of the season, Peacock, Weathers, Zaiser, McCaskill, Powell, Griffith, and Andrews were selected for the mythical all-state posts. Captain Willie Powell was forced to leave school before the season ended because of financial reasons, and was immediately taken on by the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont League. BILL TILDEN PLAYS AN EXHIBITION ON THE NUMBER ONE COURT

TENNIS

CAROLINA'S 1933 tennis team hung up one of the most enviable and certainly one of the most remarkable records in the history of collegiate tennis during last year's season. The Tar Heels, coached by John F. Kenfield, won their third consecutive national title, and with the final match, that with Brown University, won their 64th straight dual meet.

An insight into the history of the team brings further laurels to the heads of the Carolina racket-wielders. Their record is remarkable because Coach Kenfield had to rebuild a new club, employing a trio of sophomores, when Captain-elect Bryan, "Bitsy" Grant failed to return to school. It was especially hard to fill the vacant shoes of Grant who had previously won both Southern and National Clay Court titles, but Wilmer Hines developed to the fine point that he could fill the breach. So well did Hines play that he did not drop a single match throughout the entire season.

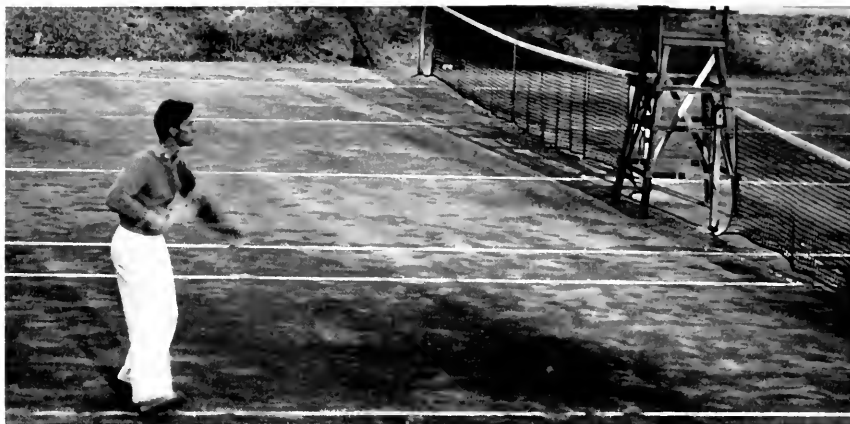

Hines found able support from his teammate and fellow co-captain Wright; and three other veterans, Harley Shuford, Dave Morgan and Johnny Dillard. The three sophomores who came up to find places on the ladder were Harvey Harris, Walter Levitan and Rickey Willis. With this array of material, the University of North Carolina tennis contingent carried all opposition during a strenuous season. The record speaks for itself, including victories by wide margins over Army, Navy, Yale, Harvard, N. Y. U., and Brown.

The closest match of the entire Spring play came on the annual Northern invasion of Eastern colleges and universities. During these seven-matchrounds with the strongest and toughest foes in the East, only the U. S. Military's Academy's netment provided serious opposition, and even the cadets were turned back by a decisive 6-3 margin.

In the annual Southern Conference tennis tournament, Carolina had the privilege of putting on a unique all-Tar Heel act. Wilmer Hines and Lenoir Wright, co-captains, paired to win the conference doubles title, while Wright lost to Hines for the singles crown. This same little drama was repeated in the state court tourney. Kenfield's proteges won the team titles in both affairs.

At the close of the 1933 season, Dave Morgan, then a Junior, and hailing from Asheville, N. C., was elected

CONSIDERING the type of material and opposition to face, Coach Dale Ranson turned out another fine cross-country team during the fall of 1933.

In their first two meets, Carolina took Florida, on the Alligators' home course, and N. C. State, in Raleigh, by decisive scores, but in their next meet, the Tar Heels barely nosed-out Davidson's hard-fighting team which later conquered Duke's Southern Conference champions.

Carolina's harriers dropped the next meet to the Blue Devils, 26-32, and ran second to the Methodists in the annual Southern Conference Cross-Country run.

GOLF

COACH John F. Kenfield's 1933 Carolina links outfit came through a ten-match schedule with only three defeats, losing twice to Duke's Southern Conference champions and once to Georgetown University's powerful aggregation.

In the North Carolina collegiate tournament, Alan Smith, brilliant Carolina star, took off individual honors. Carolina ranked second to Duke for team laurels.

O'BRIEN, Captain

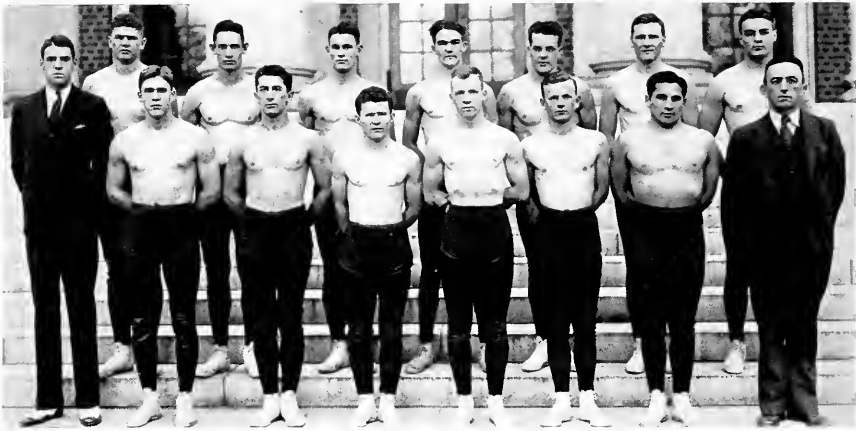

Shooting great ball, Erwin Laxton, won the individual title in the Southern Conference golf tourney. Carl Cramer, also from Carolina, was runner-up for honors. Duke won first honors for the best, all-round club; the Tar Heels ranked second.

RECORD

- Carolina 10, Richmond University 8.
- Carolina 15½, Washington and Lee 2½.
- Carolina 6, Duke 12.
- Carolina 17½, Davidson ½.
- Carolina 12½, Washington and Lee 5½.
- Carolina 2, Georgetown U. 4.
- Carolina 6, George Washington 0.
- Carolina 9, William and Mary 9.
- Carolina 16, Richmond University 2.
- Carolina 7, Duke 11.

Erwin Laxton was elected to captain the 1934 edition of the Carolina dubburs.

The following men received minor awards: Captain Billy O'Brien; Alan A. Smith; E. L. Laxton, and Carl Cramer. O'Brien also served in the capacity of team manager.

WRESTLING

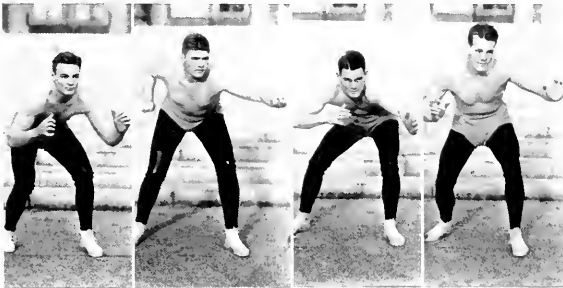

COACH P. H. Quinlan's Carolina wrestlers had one of the leanest years in the history of Tar Heel wrestling during the past winter of 1934. Facing a trying seven-match schedule, Carolina's grapplers managed to win twice. Three veteran matmen from the 1933 machine gave up wrestling due to heavy scholastic activities, and Captain Clarke Mathewson, 125-pound State champion in 1933, was forced out most of the active season with injuries.

Carolina opened the season facing the strong N. C. State club which later won the State "Big Five" wrestling crown. The Wolfpack whitewashed the Tar Heel matmen 26-0. And on their trip to V. P. I., University again emerged on the short end of the score, losing hard-fought matches, 18-10.

The Tar Heels counted their first victory of the season in licking Duke, 17-9. Morton Hiller and Tom Evins featured in the Carolina triumph, both gaining falls.

Washington and Lee's Southern Conference champions were the next opponents on the schedule. The highly-touted Generals made a clean bill of it, save for Mac Auman's fall, 29-5. V. M. I. followed their Lexington neighbors to the Hill, and again Carolina tasted defeat, 20-6.

CALENDAR

Foreword

This little review is inspired by belief in the voracity of That Great Open Secret among college men: in the four, five, or six years spent at an educational plant it is the colorful incidentals which are remembered and treasured when the solid blocks of knowledge have long since crumbled away.

Rameses III in all his ramifications will be more vivid to the alumnus of twenty years hence than the intellectual gymnastics of Robert Browning, Ralston LeGore's heave will leave Columbus far behind, and Hal Kemp's visit will bring a smile where supply and demand will produce a blank expression.

So, out damned Sociology, out double-damned Psychology! Bring on the Carrs, Carmichaels, Jamiesons, Duke Meets, "Big Bad Wolves," and milk-drinking frosh. In "semi-chronological" style let's look at the year just as we will in the future. It won't be scholarly; it won't be serious; it ought to be real!

"To hell with the freshmen," said the upperclassmen as they drank down their limeades.

"To hell with the upperclassmen," said the freshman as they stormed the show and sent Prexy Barnes to the showers.

"To hell with registration," said Tommy J. as he drank his 30th dope against the Tin Can's special brand of heat.

"To hell with 'collitch'," said the student body as it turned up for the 140th session of the University.

"To hell with Mickey Mouse," said Freshman Wheat.

"To hell with Freshman Wheat," said Mickey Mouse.

The more sophisticated, if less energetic members of the student corpus paraded down to the football playground to watch Chuck and Charlie Shaffer give each other the devil every afternoon. Sideshow was the quick, painless elimination of the high school "All-this-that-and-the-other-thing" footballers. Don Jackson stuck another picture of Mae West on the wall of his stadium room and announced that the season was open. Ex-editor Charlie Rose groaned under the weight of his law volumes and phoned Herb Taylor to ask whether he should open them or no.

Resignation of the med school's Dean Manning rather overlooked in the general rushing melee. Sigma Chi, despite the loss of Mamma Rose and its Golden Fleecers, came out ahead, thanks to disciples Cates and Litten. Sigma Nu's weren't complaining, nor were the Betas. Chi Phi's in a rejuvenation of the Pi Kappa Phi house began to undo the work of John Wilkinson by getting some men. After frantic handbeating the boys up Deke way decided to renovate the old barn and do a little concentrated pledging for a change. After their respective fraternities hid Bobby Carmichael, "Woofus Young," Phil Sasser, Jake Shuford, and Benny-Benny, the temporary campus kings were successfully hoodwinked into four years of payment through the nose. Yes, we know all about it. Boylan Carr went Zeta Psi? So what?

Tar Heel broke forth with an epidemic of columns. Broadhurst and Carmichael handed out orchids and scallions to the Sweetbriar playboys, while Dill went hunting for a man that had sense enough to bite a dog. Sugarman filched Time's vocabulary and Lee drew straws for the wind. We still couldn't find out just why that grand old hag Madame Hammer batted herself on the head to produce a geyser of powder in one of the worst plays ever seen here. Nor did it explain satisfactorily Editor Ivey's "comi-clean" Buc with a few too many ink splotches by Hiller. And what did they tell us about that graduate student that gave Johnny Booker such a fit that Johnny had to bust him out of the course to preserve his Hoover-collar dignity?

The boys at Vandy downed the Collins kidlets after "King Kong" Kahn saw the nose on the opposing guard to be superior to his own. Jim Tatum (he of the fullsome fanny) turned in a great game using the aforementioned gift in blocking the efforts of Vandy's star punter. The first one blocked in four years, cackled the press. Hell, this is the first big fanny we've had since the days of Pot Adkins, so why brag?

Benny-Benny had three conniptions when Lewis Barnes dragged in a poor weasel who had been copying "je vais". One Roger Ginsberg turned five colors when he was discovered swiping the stop sign up the street. And the Playmakers burned up and down when a host of unknowns walked off with all the fat parts in "The House of Connelly".

It's a LONG STORY!

It's NOT a bedtime story, either! There's so much length to a HANES shirt tail that it can't inch up and bulge over the belt. Which proves you can keep a good shirt down!

But that's only part of the story. HANES Shirts are plenty pliant! They snap and cling coolly into place . . . without a wrinkle or droop. And washing won't weaken the stretchy knit!

Now . . . here's the HANES short story. When you climb into a pair of HANES Shorts, you won't be double-crossed at the crotch! You can bend and stretch as much as you want—nothing pinches or clinches. Colors guaranteed fast. Gentlemen—that is Wonderwear! See your HANES dealer today. P. H. FOR MEN AND BOYS

• FOR EVERY SEASON

Honeyed "Proff", "Foster, you just didn't have the aesthetic feel for the role of Will." You poor thing, Foster.

Sigma Nu's pulling contraption pulled first place in the money-spending decoration contest for Homecoming Day. Spirit-maker Bahnson's brain-child satisfied only the owners of the scores of pieces of glassware found in Kenan after Tech had eked out a victory over a really inspired Carolina team. The better tod-catchers made merry in the newly-installed "game-rooms" (brass rails and all) and reported only Chi Psi's Myers missing when the shooting was over.

Weeks of strenuous publicity on his virility did not convince the campus that Ted Shawn was all that he should have been. Dr. Harland and Quinlan muttered something about "a swell shape" and then looked around, scared to death. Dean Carroll dropped sixty notices to cutting-seniors in the mailbox and whispered to Junior that life was certainly a great thing. Ex-team-mate Hobbs ran away behind with forty. Both admitted that they understood precious little about the proposed curriculum change and wished the baseball season would start. Editor Shoemaker covered himself with glory with his dive into Dave Clark's hope chest. And even Dr. Frank was heard whistling, "Annie Doesn't Live Here Any More."

Zeta Psi's P. Brown rounded up a crew of geynietiers and delighted the campus oafs with his bicycling. "Library dates," popularized by tiny Charlotte Winbourne increased in favor. The firm of Reed and Packard turned in a splendid monthly report. Torso-twisting Mae West cost E. Carrington plenty when the academic mind smashed windows to see "I'm No Angel". Barclay was so inspired that he went out, got himself a blonde, and hung on for the rest of the year.

Tar Heel thought it was the smartest thing on earth when it published the Buc's cover ahead of time. University Club thought it was even smarter when it perpetrated the "Ram Hoax" and encouraged a hundred Tar Heels born, Tar Heels bred, Tar Heels dead (above the neck) to storm through Duke dorms in the middle of the night. Coach Collins smarted most of all when the Wademen trifled with his team and let them lose 21-0. Kappa Alpha's socialite reports a serious injury sustained at the Lombardo brawl that night incurred in battling for Tom Evin's honor. Messrs. Dewey, Sparrow, et. al. felt the competition of a traveler-at-large armed to the ribs with Cuba and Maryland's best. Loudest curses heard at the Deke house the night N. C. voted to be the biggest hypocrite this side of Germany. Gardner and Ehringhaus—"Our dads are only governors, after all, fellows." "Nuts."

Came Thanksgiving, tough turkey, a slow Virginia game, and a swell set of dances maestreed by Emerson Gill, put over by the campus sweetheart, Marion Mann. Alex Hanes got stuck in the dum-waiter at the Kappa Sig house and the whole woozey mob gazed at him as though he were a second Floyd Collins. Acee MacDonald was having a great time shooting up the town with a BB gun while Vass initiated a new game of Blind Man's Bluff on the dance floor. The pay-off came when several boulevardiers climbed up a ladder at the Inn to see "what little girls were made of". "All right, Fysal, we were only counting stars." The morning after found Don Jackson in the bus terminal in Durham with the inscription "You're an old honey" in lipstick on his shirt. Swaggered Don, "That's nothin'. You oughta see the one I just sent to the laundry."

John Manning Booker sufficiently monopolized discussion at the Student Activities Committee meeting to make the scribe note, "It was suggested that the faculty members cease talking and give the students a chance." Johnny's merciless logic failed for once, and "King" Lear, Great Big No of the P. U. Board, found himself without a security in the world. The Entertainment Committee trembled in its boots and attempted to gloss over the difficulty with a fine concert by the Vienna Choir Boys.

Mary Dirnberger supported herself on her elbows, rhapsodized, "It isn't art, but it's very good reading," and cleaned up on the Christmas books. Those little blue, brown, and grey books were much in evidence for four days as Sutton's ran out of caffen tablets and Dougald Mac Millan ran out of wisecracks to annoy the examined who were annoying him. The Jerseyite who thought Spann wouldn't read the final busted the course at just about the time Herr Staab was figuring out which one of his thirty pupils he would pass.

President Barnes jumped back into the limelight by opening the year with a vigorous campaign to let students handle pressing, sewing, and corn-spot removing. Johnson-Prevost felt important with its telegrams to the NRA, but Mr. and Mrs. Snyder went right ahead removing spots. Ben Proctor, gal on arm, applauded the movement and howled for Paulsen's blood, Hinson's liver, and Woollen's money. He got a column rejected by Benny-Benny. "Proff" received an anonymous wire: FOR GOD'S SAKE STOP READING CHRISTMAS CAROL. CHRISTMAS TWO WEEKS AGO STOP STOP STOP. Lewis Barnes nabbed a co-ed outside a porticoed fraternity house and put the fear of Barnes in her by threatening to report her. The loquacious faculty dropped the all-fired curriculum long enough to abolish mid-terms. Loud cheers from the house who had three men who got all X's in the fall quarter. "Fanny" Bradshaw squinted at Rufus Adolphus Pool (Jack, to those in the know) and doubted the advisability of his taking ethics. Editor Andrews treated all thousand and one S. A. E.'s to a birthday party that was heard all over the campus. Ike Minor, fresh from the social life of Charlotte, put the Dean to sleep with an oration, and John O'Neil cursed roundly when that book wasn't in for Fuzzy.

Les freres McCachren led Coach Bo's aggregation in nice basketeering, with Dave's eye trained on the basket and that blonde simultaneously. George Brandt and Bill Markham began coaching co-ed athletics and were put to shame by the chunky, energetic Mc Cauley. Mary Goodall, a study in superficial sophistication, robbed Pi Phi's Jamieson of one of her fiddler's three, and Irvin Boyle relaxed long enough from his strenuous duties as Head Man in the Interfraternity Council to tell Patsy McMullen that she might not be another Carbo but . . . Norm Quarles sizzled when freshman O'Flaherty, thinking practice made perfect, let loose some haymakers at the Hendersonville Mauler. Persia sent a couple of young noblemen down to Lewis dorm where they fixed up a room worth $100,000 in rugs and hangings. Managing Editor Walker, doubtless optimistic over the return of Elizabeth Johnson, saw complete victory in the Tar Heel's law suit, and Philips Russell "you-seed" it eight times one period.

Beta's Barnett journeyed down to Atlanta for the ride and came back with a Rhodes Scholarship in his pocket. Klutz-cottager Shoemaker led the campus in applause for a real recognition of the best type man produced by the University. That, however, didn't stop Martha Hurst from causing a temp-est in a teapot over the use of lemon, cream, sugar, and baccardi in the grand old beverage of the empire that has no sun or something like that.

Maddened by Benny-Benny's scorching headline "ATHLETIC COUNCIL MEETS FOR 4 HOURS; DOES NOTHING", that group hauled off and selected Bucknell's blond Carl Snavelly to step into Collin's shoes. Murmurs from those pampered by Chuck were stifled by general well-wishing. The Manly freshman who had hoped that they would pick Rockne was truly a very disappointed lad. Editor Andrews asked and got $1000 for the benefit of his little toy on the same day that Pete Ivey cried his eyes in vain for a $3.60 dictionary. Benny-Benny learned from Law School's Barnes the words "putrescent" and "usury" and fused them to coin the Expression of the Year. No mention will be made of the reporter who asked his editorial dignity what "Putrescent Usury" really stood for. The lit'ry Magazine belched forth with a neat history of last year's political embroglio, scared Taylor, Novins, and Gant to death, and started endless speculations as to the identity of Tabbis I, II, III. Bland Shoemaker merely became blander.

Mid-Winters were another triumph for Gill and Mann with a little praise left over for the K. A. tea-room which attracted S. A. E. and D. K. E. tea-bibbers. A real compliment, considering the splendid tea apparati maintained by the praisers. Martha Hurst was not invited, nor was Sybille Berwanger, despite her original penchant for carrots. Greeks discarded the "peace pipe" as obsolete and adopted the "treaty-tod". Carl Thompson bit a deeper into his pipe and presided over the Tar Heel's 41st birthday party which was featured by egg-nogg mixed by Benny-Benny.

Albert Ellis became a hero for a day when he turned Hawkshaw and trapped Saint Lewis Barnes.

Books stolen from the library, honor system rejuvenated, another candidate for the asylum. All in all one of the most preposterous, sensational events ever recorded at Chapel Hill. No need to dwell on the Ruffinite who came asking whether Barnes had a suit of his that was swiped three years ago.

William Wang was caught behind the Saturday Evening Post lamenting that Chairman Lee had rejected his fifteenth editorial in a row. Lewis dorm went into convulsions over its dog-washing freshman, Manly thrust out its chest at the lad who dashed around its walls stark naked at midnight. S. A. E. soaked the Dekes in fraternity basketball loop and Ruffin came along to humble Chief Minor's lads in the finals. In passing let us pay tribute to that customary side-splitting game between the Pi Phi's and the Chi O's. The former exercised athletic supremacy in the same adroit fashion in which they annually triumph politically. Mascot Winbourne led the yells and attracted the attention of her favorite giggling Deke. Quarles won the S. I. C. tournament, bought himself a car, registered at the Inn, and turned his back on college competition.

The crime wave engendered by Saint Lewis reached terrific proportions when some unknown

Raffles entered various fraternity houses while the inmates slept it off and walked off with cash, jewelry, haberdashery, and cigarettes. Dave Morgan woke up and asked one burglar what he wanted, directed him to the bulletin board, and turned over to go back to sleep. Heaviest losers were Gant and Carmichael—but they can take it.

Quarter wound up with Coach Bob winning another indoor meet. Well-staged event marred only by the fraternity playboys in tuxedo who got in everyone's way when they thought they were ushering. You looked all out of place, Mr. Sasser.

Exams, cold weather, cramming, Pritchard-Lloyd out of caffeine this time. Rottenest weather ever during the holidays punctuated by discreet celebrations at the little stone cottage.

Slow start for the spring quarter. That Don Pope-Mary Dirnberger romance thrived on copies of the Iliad, and for no particularly good reason Joe Gant became chapel-burner at the Bull's Head. Messrs. Heist, Woollen, Carmichael, and Hughes spent the vacation on the Hill. Stan gave up after three days and went to New York for a rest. Koch unearthed Nan Norman as an expert emoter from somewhere and promptly made all the Playmakers madder than hornets by sending her out to St. Louis. First week in April one of the hottest on record caused Dr. McKie to shed his professional coat. Dr. Frank waved a cheery good-bye to Rhodes' Barnett and then turned up for a minute at the Frosh-Soph brawl. Bandmaster Allsbrook scored decisively with his lawyer's no-break that night. George Taylor cursed out the younger generation and went back to descriptions of hog-raising. Bill Olsen re-read Walter Lippmann for the tenth time, and History 52 threatened to supplant Dr. Harland's courses as athletic crips. Campus went ga-ga over "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" in "It Happened One Night", and John Acee and his Phi Delt brothers paid a stiff fine for crooning it on a Sunday over in Carrboro.

Campus virtually slept in a political sense until two days before election. University Party's torchlight parade enlivened only by Benny-Benny's tossing eggs at Dave McCachren. Postponed election caused candidates plenty of worry. Ben Proctor's gal objected to his running on the grounds that his success would mean he'd have less time for her. Weathers saw to this by about 600 votes. University Party swept Dill, Sugarman, Pool and the rest of its ticket in by large majority; first clean sweep since 1931. Red Rankin gave up politics—best news of the campaign. Vass Shepherd and Will Sadler organized post-election celebration in DKE tea-room marked by Vass's famous ode to the W. C. T. U.

"Hump" Snyder and his playmates down in the quadrangle laughed themselves to death every time they sent some unsuspecting candidate out to a house on a nearby road where enjoyment for little money could be procured. They laughed harder when they saw the candidates run before an angry pair of whisksers and a shot gun. Katherine Jamieson was beamed conclusively by a chandelier, but it didn't alter the angle of her little nose. George O'Hanlon dated Elizabeth Johnson for the "steenth" time and wondered about Thomas H. Walker's candidacy. Prexy Barnes shuttled from Duke to the shack in an effort to find consolation for giving up his office. Found it eventually in his appointment to the directorship of Graham Memorial. Albright, almost out in the cold, came through with a suggestion to form an ex-presidents' club; there are four students and four faculty members on the campus who have at one time been the Big Boss of the Student Council.

May Frolics held as usual in April turned black-and-tan with Noble Sissle. Generally rated as one of the best of the lot; less bids floating around than ever before. That, however, was apparently the only curtailment on floating. S. A. E. put it on with a barbecue, an interfraternity tod-party and a so-called hay ride. Junior-Seniors-Kemp that more or less tells the story. Not really a dance, but a concert.

Dartmouth handed Coach Bob's boys one of their rare defeats, but the team came back magnificently in the weeks following. Pole-vaulter Jackson, stung by Dr. Caldwell's morning thrusts, lost most of his heart at William and Mary. Benny-Benny settled the Tar Heel-Buccaneer feud once and for all by nearly murdering Mrs. Wootten when he knocked a screen down at her in an effort to splash the Buc staff as it posed for its picture. Editor Ivey, artist Hiller and belligerent Mr. Lowe retaliated by half-killing Benny-Benny on his home ground. Impressario Albright piloted the second annual Dogwood Festival to success, and refused to be daunted by the rangy freshman who looked in at the antiques and cracked, "Just a lot of junk that's being stored here." Comprehensives turned up and surprised most of the candidates by being comparatively easy. Playmaker tour a great success, stated "Proff". Next to the Playmakers the St. Louis folks now like Lindbergh best. Curriculum change went into effect, and half the faculty, most of the student body, asked whatin hell it was all about. Limeades returned to favor while most everybody cussed out the CWA, FERA and the rest of the alphabet for leaving the tennis courts looking like the battlefields of France. Oh well, Person Hall will probably be a museum in time to put Julia Booker's grand-daughter's textbooks in it.

The Navy selected Carolina for its one track meet away from home this year and got an unexpected drubbing, but their uniforms looked keen at the dance that night. Jesse Taylor Newby, Jean Cantrell, and Eleanor Bizzell all have buttons to remember them by. Tommy Irwin proved the bright particular star of Coach Hearn's "wonder" ball team, and George Moore made a bid for immortality by printing a good joke upside down in the farewell Buc. Benny-Benny closed one of the most extraordinary of Carolina careers with an issue entitled, "The Dilly Carr Heel". Dr. Murchison settled his glasses a bit firmer and began assisting at track meets again, and Bernard Solomon continued to think himself the dictator of fashion on the campus.

Along came the heat, silver-nips, horrible pictures, no tennis, the terrific battle between Miss Piltz, party of the first part, and Mr. Erb, party of the second part, over Mr. Jenkins, part of Miss Piltz, and a little more shearing of the grass. Harper Barnes drained down another limeade, looked longingly at Mayne's room, in the vicinity of which the music from Phoebe Barr's dancing class began to drive the publications men across the hall insane.

The janitor of South was horrified one night to hear the ghost of "that woman climbing the stairs to ring that bell" until he learned that it was Dr. Frank polishing up a speech. "Spike" Saunders is reported to have given only five minutes to a Tar Heel reporter, an all-time record. The Bell Tower missed playing "Hark the Sound" one afternoon and 50 graduate students rushed over to embrace campanilist Walter Patterson. Grail turned up with the usual shines on Franklin Street. Best feature was the "Goon" who went out to do his stuff a night before he was scheduled. Strong-armed McCachren did not forget.

Dr. Tommy J. Wilson seen conferring with E. Carrington Smith on possibility of renting permanent pew in his establishment. The watch-dog of admissions has seen 'em come and go since Flora Finch and Wallace Reid. "Ouch," squeaked fraternity court socialites when marshals for the Queen's Ball had to pay $10 for the honor. Meno Spann took kindly to the Maytime by threatening to pole-cault over the Tin Can, but stopped by Memorial Hall to admire George Brandt's tapping technique as the Golden Fleece selected ten new Argonauts.

Archibald Henderson dozed comfortably at Fordell (his home, to the unwashed) and dreamed of inviting Einstein, Shaw, Marconi, Joe Penner, and Jean Harlow to Chapel Hill for a bull session. C. C. Crittenden, renowned interpreter of the sex life of United States history, seen chatting with Ellis Fysal about the Arboretum, and Dean Bradshaw polished up his slingshot to pop those fraternity men from his window in old South, because they didn't invite him to their week-end "tea parties". Mr. Moulton caught memorizing a new joke for 1935 to put sex in the souls and fire in the eyes of frozen-faced posers.

Uncle Bill McDade, who has admitted planting the Davie Poplar, stopped sweeping the floor of Graham Memorial lobby long enough to answer, "What I think of 1934? Well, gen'muns come, and gen'muns go, but I wish they'd keep their feet off our cushions."
